

Four stills from a recent video work have been painted on wooden boards.

There's a column, a fan and it isn't cold like it used to be.

The diagram of an astral chart is now drawn on the floor.

A thermal blanket from a performance presented in a theater last March is hanging as a curtain.

An improvised text from a 2009 performance will be reimprovised.

There are people* in the room but not the same ones of back then.

Let's dance the penguin dance like never before.

The elements will be in a constant reconfiguration during the five days of the Festival of Choices.

The lights will be turned off.

It will be fine.

* Louis Vanhaverbeke
Oneka Von Schrader
Aleksandra Lemm
Riccardo Guratti

A project by Tamara Kuselman at Jeanine Hofland Gallery Festival of Choices
June 2014

Every

day

is a new

day

and

everybody

is all

right,

really!