

IL GIOCO DELL' OCA DI DOROTHY

RULES

The rules are very simple because geese have never been known for their intelligence. In this regard, we recommend using a single die to avoid any addition problems. The number of players is unlimited — just like the number of geese. You don't win as a flock but only by reaching square number 41 individually (because we know geese who made it to square 39 and burst into tears... when just one more step would have been enough!).
Courage and good luck!

The original "Il Gioco dell'oca Milanese", designed by Arturo and Giulio, was published as an annex to the zero issue of "Babilonia" in August 1982. It was created to indicate — in a very campy way — cruising spots, safe spaces, and dangerous areas in Milan for the community. This new version is designed as a complement to the audience's visit to Vincent Grange's "The House of Dorothy" (2025) — an artistic installation representing the home of the LGBTQIA+ community's imaginary best friend, Dorothy — giving hints about the references and stories that inspired the house.
